LETTER FROM WM. H. ALLEN, PRESIDENT OF GIRARD COLLEGE, PHILADELPHIA.

GIRARD COLLEGE, April 14, 1852.

I have examined Mr. Boyer's Lightning Rod, and believe that it is constructed on scientific principles, and combines several advantages. The mode of insulation, the connection of the parts by screws, and the protection of the points from oxidation, are valuable properties. It is my opinion that this Conductor will ensure the safety of buildings when preperly placed upon them.

WASHINGTON, April 20, 1852 The Whig Congressional Caucus re-assembled to-night in the Senate chamber, at eight o'clock—Judge Mangum presiding. The attendance was rather thin, a number Southern members and some of Mr. Webster's friends being absent. Among those present were Senators Smith. Fish, Seward, Wade, and Messrs. The negative vote against the decision were Southern men, except Messrs Stanly and Morehead (of N. C.), and two Kentuckians.

Among the affirmatives were Messrs. Powler of Mass.) Wade and Campbell (of Ohio), Sackett and Schoolcraft (of N. Y.), and others.

Mr. Massfall said, as the Chair had decided the compromise principles of the whig administration out of order, this was no place for whigs to remain, and he then Mr. Gentry, of Tenn., with much feeling, said he would make one more effort to save the united whig party, and offered a resolution, in substance, that, in fixing the time and place, the whigs did not commit themselves unless the compromises were final. [This is as

A long debate arose, in which Messrs. Campbell, Outlaw, Brooke, (Mass.), Strother, Moore, (La). Ewing, Cabbell, and Clingman participated.

Mr. Outlaw, of N. C., wished to be understood—if the ompromise resolutions were to be thrust out of the whig caucus, it was thrusting him out, and the whigs whom he represented; and then he withdrew.

Mr. Moose, of Louisiana, sald such action ruled the Southern whigs ont of the cancus, and then he and his colleague, Mr. Landry, withdrew. MR. BROOKE, of Miss., would like to know, before he went to the Whig National Convention, what company he was to keep. He then left. Mr. STROTHER, of Va., said the whigs of Virginia had. in substance, instructed him to leave the caucus when the compromise was thrown out. He left.

Mr. Cabell, of Fa., said the previous decision of the Chair caused many Southern whigs to be absent to-night. He and others came, hoping for the reverse of such a decision. The confirmation of the decision would leave the caucus with only the Northern men and eight or ten

Mr. Morehrad of N. C. said he stayed behind only because he hoped the whig convention would adopt the compromises, and it was certain that North Carolina would vote only for the compromise.

Mr. Dockery, of N. C., endarsed his colleague to the fullest extent.

Mr. Cullom said no man could hope to carry Tennessee unless for the compromises.

On the motion of Mr. Sackett, of N. Y., the time and place was fixed.

Upon a division between Baltimore and Pittsburg, the former received 31 and the latter 18—showing but 49 present, after the Southern members had left.

Mr. Stanly defined his position at length. He averred that, unless the whig party stood upon the Compromise, no candidate could receiva the Southern vote.

A sharp controversy ensued between Messrs, Brooks, Stanly, and Truman Smith, and the Caucus separated smidst great excitement.

Previous to the adjournment Mr. Mangum said he anticipated a manifest from the retiring southern whigs, and, in that case, he desired authority to re-convene the caucus. Authority was given.

The result seems to indicate a sectional division in the whig party. Such men as John Bell, Dawson, Berrien, Grier, Badger, Pratt and Pearce, of the Senate, with all the Maryland representatives, and other prominent members absented themeslves in consequence of the pre-announced decision of the Chair.

fornia, and warehouses for storage of Indian goods, &c., next came up.

Mr. Hwarez, (dem.) of Va., opposed the amendment.

Mr. Gwin said it would be most economical to build those houses; or the House would have to pay that amount for rent. The government paid new for the rent of the custom-house, post-offices, and court houses in California, $150.090.

After a long debate the amendment was rejected. The committee next moved to amend, by striking out an appropriation of $28.000 to the Seneca Indians, of New York, for moneys wrongfully withheld from them by one Stryker, an Indian agent, who embezsied the Indian funds placed in his hands.

Mr. Pearce alvocated striking it out.

Mears, Miller, Seward, Atchison, Cooper, Sebastian, and Berrien, successfully opposed striking it out. Mr, Pearce's proposition was therefore rejected.

Mr. Rantoul.—But I will not reflect upon anybody.

Mr. Starly—Then publish what you have got to say in the newspapers. It is a great abuse to bring such things here, and reply to out-ide proceedings. I must object, on the ground of public business.

I must object, on the ground of public business.

I must object, on the ground of the hill; but at the proper time he would propose amendments to the substitute of Mr. Millson. He preferred, however, that the measure should not now be acted upon, but desired the preparation of an entirely new naval code, one which will elevate the moral standard of seamen, and teach them that degradation is not in the punishment, but in the crime which renders it necessary. There was, he contended, no urgent necessity for passing the bill now. Before Mr. P. had concluded, the House went into committee on

THE HOMESTEAD BILL.

Mr. Newton, (whig) of Ohio, advocated the establishment of an agricultural bureau, the great object of which, he said, was to elevate the social condition of the agriculturalists. The creating of such a branch had been favored, from Washington down to Fillmore. He contended that, notwith-standing agriculture is the main element of our properity, it has been shamefully neglected, and but a government clerk or two is conveyed with many tended that, notwithstanding agriculture is the main element of our properity, it has been shamefully neglected, and but a government clerk or two is employed with matters en this branch of industry. The bill introduced for an agricultural bureau proposed a yearly expenditure of $10.250—an inconsiderable amount, in view of the great objects to be effected, and the impetus which would be thus imparted to the great agricultural interests throughout the country. He alluded to the fact that foreign ceuntries have given to this subject proper consideration, whilst our own has been so inexcusably derelict.

Mr Riddle, (dem.) of Del., said that the sooner we donate the public lands to the States, for the purposes of education, internal imptovements or whatever else the constituted authorities may direct, the better it will be for the entire people, and the entire country. He then went into the political question, deprecating the arraying, by speeches in the House, of the best democratic candidate—the one against another. The Baltimore Convention—coming fresh from the people—would present a man around whom all democrats should rally. He spoke against Messers, Filmore and Webster for their anti-slavery notions heretofore, and attributed the necessity for the passing of the compromise measures to the anti-slavery action of the Northern whigs; and predicted that, should General Scott be elected. Seward and Governor Johnston, and such men, will compose his cabinet, and rule his administration.

Mr Allesso, (whig) of Pa., said that if the Homestead bill would confer all that its title promised, the House should not hesitate to pass it. He greatly feared that, like the cure-alls of medicines, it promised too much—He then opposed the measure, and expressed his preference for the scheme of distribution as heretofore projected by Mr. Clay, the advocate of the great American system. He wanted the lands to be disposed of for the equal benefit of all the States.

News from Bollvia.

We translate from El Mercurio del Vapor of Valparaiso, of February 25th, the following article on Bolivia.

It is not easy—it is in fact impossible, to form an exact idea of the situation of this country, from the publications in its journals. We will let our correspondent, who has no interest, and no political fancies, and is impartial, speak on the subject. His remarks are worthy of entire credit. Here is the substance of his letter:—

Tacks. February 13, 1852

The last news from la Pas, received by the courier of today, is to the 7th inst. The President left the interior of the republic, on the 28th of January for Potosi; and he must now be in the capital. The press in Bolivia appear dumb, for it is impossible to find in the papers anything interesting. They publish an official note from Bolivia to Paris, in order that the French may be induced to send scare teachers and professors for the colleges of the republic. They should also promote the emigration of artisans, and all classes of workmen. In la Paz many complaints had been made aguinst a company which had failed. It is accused of a great deal of irregularity in its payments.

Captain Adams. from Charleston, arrived yesterday. Our thanks are due to the officers for promptly forwarding the favors of our Southern cotemporaries.

Police Intelligence.

The Recent California Ticket Case. The hearing in the matter pending before Justice Oaborn, against Messes. Crooks and Hall charged with an alieged false pretence, in selling tickets, or privileges, to persons to sail in the Reinder, was to have come off yesterday afternoon; but as counsel on either side emitted to attend the court at the appointed hour—nor did they, in fact, appear during the afternoon—the magistrate adjourned the proceedings over to some future day.

The case of George E. Hamilton is set downfor Thursday afternoon.

The Case of Winn & Hawkins.—The matter pending on a hearing before Justice Osborn, against Winn & Hawkins, charged with obtaining money from Mr. Cyrus Scofield under alleged false pretences, was again, yesterday afternoon, brought up: but in consequence of the absence of one of the witnesses, the hearing was postponed until Friday afternoon, the 30th inst.

"Hutcher Joe" Committed as a Vagrant.—The negro, called Joseph Morrison, alias Butcher Joe, was a day or two since arrested on a charge of burning and defrauding a countryman out of $50, in reference to a bet. The evidence, however brought against Joe was not quite sufficient to convict him of a grand larceny; therefore, the magistrate, Justice Osborn, in order to punish Joe "some," took a complaint against him for vagrancy, and Joe was accordingly consigned to the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island for the term of six months. The proceedings a "burning" shame, in depriving so useful a member of society of his liberty. Habeas corpus and other writs of right are talked about, for the purpose of conveying this unfortunate victim of color before a higher court, where justice is presumed to be adjudged to all parties with equal rights, We shall see the matter tested in a day or two.
